The Irish Protective League issued its statement on the experiment of Paul J. Hayes, Sean O'Hehir, Lawrence O'Neill and Patrick J. Fitzgerald, all of 240 West Thirty-fourth Street.

They answered question No. 15 on the enrollment card, which asks for the state or country of the registrant if he is an alien, by insisting that they owed allegiance to the "Irish Republic." In a space on the back of the card, reserved for just such emergencies, according to Mr. Conboy, the registrant, Robert D. Murray, noted that he did not believe that such a political power existed.

According to Mr. Conboy, he ordered

Actual induction into the service of those found physically fit will be in accordance with their order numbers as determined by the drawing to be held here, except in individual cases where local boards receive orders for the voluntary induction of certain registrants at the request of the army, navy or Marine Corps.

It was expected to-day, but delays due to various causes, chiefly the isolation of some local boards in outlying sections made it impossible to ascertain definitely when the last board would have its list of registrants serially numbered and posted.

Six states have not yet reported complete totals for the September 12 registrations, and the provost marshal has been notified that totals returned from other states will have to be corrected because of discrepancies between telegraphic returns and latter mail returns now being received.

the House to-day denied published reports that he had been refused permission to visit the British front while on a recent trip to Europe.

Calling attention to dispatches saying he and Representative Lundeen, of Minnesota, had been kept away from the British front, and that an investigation was being made of remarks alleged to have been made by them aboard ship, Mr. Dillon declared the report was "maliciously false and without foundation."

Corporal John J. Booth, 165th Infantry, who was killed in action July 28. was married shortly before the Rainbow Division marched away from Camp Mills on its last Long Island kike. His widow and infant child live at 83 Congress Street, Brooklyn.

Private James Santose, 165th Infantry, who lived at 946 Forty-first Street, Brooklyn, was killed in action July 29.

It was quite possible, Mr. Dillon said, that he incurred the enmity of the offi-cers of the British steamship on which, he crossed with 3,000 soldiers because of his efforts "to see that they should be treated aboard an American vessel." As a result of his protests he said the soldiers were given better food than they had been getting.

LONDON, Sept. 26 (9 P. M.).—British airplanes yesterday dropped bombs on the German city of Frankfort, according to an official statement issued this evening by the War Office. Five enemy machines were shot down. Four British airplanes are missing.

An earlier statement said German aerodromes at Buhl, twenty-five miles southwest of Karisruhe, and at Kaiseralautern, between Metz and Mannheim, had been bombed by machines of the British Independent Air Force. Fighting took place during the expedition, with the result that two enemy machines were destroyed. Three of the British machines have not been located.

Keeping Kaiser Bill On the Jump

Let's forget Par-amount Shirts today and think about what we all are going to do personally to help keep Kajser Bill on the jump.

· If we don't win this war, you won't need any DeLuxe Shirts (slaves don't wear that kind), consequently there wouldn't be any need for Paramount Shirt Shops.

The one big thought for all of us today is that free people buy bonds slaves wear them. As free men it is up to each of us to help make this Fourth Liberty Loan an overwhelming Success

Three loans and two million men have been America's answer to date. Let us make it four loans and four million lion men if need be. That is the only kind of argument which will make Wilhelm the Him understand what it means to flaunt his bloody sword in the face of free people. Make every sacrifice to buy

men or ten loans and ten mil

bonds as many as possible. And if you can't buy big bends on can buy little bonds the War Savings Stamps. Every dollar counts, even the dellars you save when you buy shirts and other furnishings at Paramount Shops.

Yours for the Fourth Liberty Loan.
